

Dear Parents,

We are once again participating in Anti-Bullying Week this year in school, commencing Monday 16th-Friday 20th November. We will be exploring the theme 'United Against Bullying' helping pupils to realise, that we all play an important part in preventing bullying behaviour.

We will introduce the week by celebrating 'Odd Socks Day' on Monday 16th November. We ask that pupils participate by wearing odd socks to school on this day. The wearing of odd socks, helps pupils to understand the importance of our individuality and diversity within our school community. This allows pupils to express themselves with confidence.

During the week, each class will participate in activities to explore the theme with their teacher during PDMU lessons.

P5-P7 Pastoral Care Team members, will also deliver a short assembly to their class bubbles.

In addition, pupils will participate in a poster competition. One winner will be selected from each class. The winning posters will be displayed in our school hall for the rest of term 1.

During Anti-Bullying Week we would like to remind all our pupils that if they have a problem, they can talk to any of their safe adults. We also will be reminding pupils throughout the week of the names of the Safeguarding Team members Mrs F. Fearon (Designated Teacher), Mrs M. Kelly (Deputy Designated Teacher) and Mrs W. McKeown (Principal).

Thank you,
Mrs F. Fearon
